Terra Sonic International Updates Website

Marietta, Ohio, USA...Terra Sonic International, the industry leader in the manufacture of Sonic Drill Rigs, has made several enhancements to the company website.

The first is a section called "Why Sonic?" This portion of the website addresses the benefits of Sonic Drilling versus other methodologies like push and auger.

Another new section is titled "Got Sonic?" This segment concentrates on how Terra Sonic assists customers already using Sonic Drill Rigs. Terra Sonic, for example, can help repair and rebuild Sonic Drill Rigs, even if other companies have manufactured them.

Finally, Terra Sonic added content explaining the benefits of the company's new Automatic Pipe Handling System. This section offers features and benefits of the system with easy navigation that enables visitors to contact TSi with questions or to learn more.

"The changes we are making to the website reflect our new product-centric focus," said TSi Business Development Manager Mike Scaringella. "We also want our website to become an industry destination where valuable objective information is made easily accessible."
