Terra Sonic International Named a Recipient of the 2013 National Drilling Association Safety Award

Marietta, Ohio...Terra Sonic International (TSi), a leading manufacturer and service provider of Sonic technology, has been named a recipient of the 2013 National Drilling Association Safety Award.

The award, which will be presented at the annual Fall NDA Meeting on October 9th in Mason, Ohio, honors companies that have an outstanding safety record and that show a true commitment to safety standards.

"Sonic Drilling is an inherently safer method of drilling than conventional drilling," said Bob Lauson, President of TSi. "Despite that, TSi has never taken the benefits of Sonic Drilling for granted. We take certifications and training very seriously. This award underscores the commitment and dedication of our entire team."
